CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

Held at Bellefonte, Tuesday of Last Week.—Local Reformed Church Awarded Banner for Largest Attendance.

The twenty-second annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of Centre county was held in St. John's Reformed church, Bellefonte, Tuesday of last week.

The period from 9:30 to 10 o'clock was spent in the enrollment of delegates.

At 10 o'clock the meeting was formally opened by a song service lead by Frank Smith, of Bellefonte. This was followed by devotional services by Rev. Fulcomer, of Bellefonte, reading for the lesson part of the second chapter of Acts. The address of welcome was given by Dr. A. M. Schmidt, pastor of the church. He made the delegates feel that in behalf of the people and the church they were welcome. The response was given by G. O. Benner of Centre Hall. He thanked the pastor and the congregation for their kind welcome, and assured them that all of the delegates and the officers of the county appreciated the kindness extended. Professor Resides then asked the convention to be patient with him and he would fill the office of the President to the best of his ability.

The delegates' prayer meeting was lead by Miss Maud Thomas, "Quiet Hour" superintendent. She read for the lesson the seventh chapter of Matthew. This was followed by the reports of delegates. Some very interesting reports were given, while others were not so encouraging, and a few of the societies represented had no report to give. The address of the morning was given by Frank Smith, of Bellefonte, on The Building of a Christian Endeavor Society. His talk was very interesting and pointed out the way to build up an efficient active society. The following committees were then appointed: Nominating Committee: Frank Smith, Mrs. Williams and Miss Ward; Resolutions Committee: Rev. Fulcomer, Mr. Benner and Miss Glenn. The morning session was closed with prayer and benediction by Rev. Carson, of Bellefonte.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session was opened with a song service. Devotional services were lead by Rev. Carson. The lesson was taken from the fourth chapter of John. The first address was given by Mr. Macrory, State Secretary, on Our State's Ambition. He emphasized the setting of the goal and then the striving to attain that goal. Four fundamental truths were given: first, to be a christian; second, conversion to Christ; third, services for Christ; and fourth, loyalty to Christ and fellowship to Christ's people. To be a real Christian Endeavorer there are three things to be considered: to know the work; to do the work, and to love the work. His motto to the convention was "Good, better, best, and may we never rest until the good is better and the better best." This was followed by a duet by Mrs. Schmidt and Miss Mingle.

The second address of the afternoon was given by Rev. W. L. Dudley. He asked for the young people to be given more chance in the Society. He said their minds and bodies were able to carry the work, for what a child learns in youth will never be taken away from him. He wanted them to be leaders, but he emphasized Christian leaders.

The following is a report of the nominating committee: President, Professor G. H. Resides; first vice-president, G. O. Benner; second vice-president, Darius Waite; recording secretary, Miss Helen Weber; corresponding secretary, Miss Lela Ardery; treasurer, Miss Grace Crawford; "Quiet Hour" superintendent, Miss Maude Thomas.

The following resolutions were submitted by the Resolution Committee:

Centre County Christian Endeavor Convention, June 15, 1915.

We respectfully submit the following: Whereas there seems to be an indifference on the part of many societies in attending these conventions; therefore, be it resolved that we ask the delegates representing their respective Society to ask a more faithful attendance to these conventions. That we also would impress upon them these obligations: Make an effort to awaken more interest in the work; further resolved that the corresponding secretary notify all Societies not represented at this convention to spare no efforts to be represented at any future Christian Endeavor conventions of the County.

Whereas there seems to be a growing sentiment in the county along all temperance lines, and the election of a no-license Judge; therefore resolved that we as a County Christian Endeavor Union will use our best efforts by voice and act, to secure this end.

Whereas, we have been favored with the presence of Mr. MacCrory, State Secretary of Christian Endeavor, we Community Picnic a Success.

The first community picnic in Centre Hall was held Thursday of last week on Grange Park and was a grand success, judging from the large number present and the feeling that was manifested and the interest taken in every number on the program for the day. It was estimated that between twelve and fifteen hundred persons were on the park. The day was perfect, and while a high temperature prevailed, no one suffered from the heat, for the many beautiful shade trees afforded shelter from the sun's rays. The stores in the borough were closed for the greater part of the day and everyone left the cares of business and home behind and joined with the children in making merry and for a time forgetting the more serious things.

Among the attractions of the day was a short program which had been prepared by the committee. It consisted of music by the Coburn band, which was very well rendered. The opening prayer was offered by Victor H. Jones, a student in the Reformed Theological Seminary at Lancaster. Short talks on Sunday-school questions were made by Master of Ceremonies, George L. Goodhart, who is also superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday-school of Centre Hall. Daniel Rossman, assistant superintendent, responded on behalf of the Union Sunday-school of Tusseyville, and W. W. McCormick for the Methodist Sunday-school at Sprucetown. The recitations of Miss Rebecca Cox of Tusseyville and Miss Lillian Emery of Centre Hall were very well rendered and both received much merited applause. Revs. R. R. Jones, F. H. Foss and W. H. Williams made brief addresses. The audience then rose and sang a stanza of "God Be With You," and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. F. H. Foss.

The next hour was spent in partaking of the picnic dinner and the majority of those present had come with well-filled baskets. Instead of spreading the dinner in a manner customary on picnic occasions tables which are the property of the Grange Encampment Association were used by almost everybody.

In the afternoon two baseball games and a number of other sporting contests occupied the time. While State College was defeating the home team by the score of 5 to 1 on the old baseball diamond, Tusseyville was handing a defeat to the Linden Hall team on the new baseball field. The final score was 8 to 5. Following the baseball games the crowd was attracted in the direction of the auditorium where a number of interesting and amusing feats were performed. The events, the winner and the prize in each contest are enumerated below:

High shoe-lacing contest, Luther Noll. Prize, baseball mit.

Low shoe-lacing contest, Harold Keller. Prize, baseball bat.

Nail-driving contest, No. 1, Mrs. John Luse. Prize, forty cents.

Nail-driving contest, No. 2, Miss Maud Meeker. Prize, forty cents.

Bun-eating contest, Ernest Frank. Prize, forty cents.

Ball-throwing contest, Mrs. Paul Bradford. Prize, forty cents.

100-yard dash, John H. Knarr. Prize, forty cents.

Wheelbarrow contest, William Bradford Prize, forty cents.

Hoop-rolling contest, T. L. Smith. Prize, forty cents.

Ladies' fifty-yard race, Isabel Rowe. Prize, forty cents.

100 yard dash for small boys, Newton Crawford. Prize, forty cents.

Fraternal Orders Decorate.

Saturday evening the local K. G. E. held their decoration services, decorating the graves of deceased members in the Centre Hall cemetery. Several members of the Spring Mills lodge were present and took part in the march. After the ceremony Rev. W. H. Williams delivered an excellent address.

On Sunday the Odd Fellows paid tribute to their deceased members and turned out in a large body, being joined by their sister organization, the Rebekahs. The cemeteries at Tusseyville and Sprucetown were visited in the afternoon and at the latter place Victor Jones delivered a splendid address. In the evening the seventeen graves of deceased Odd Fellows and two graves of departed Rebekahs, in the local cemetery, were strewn with flowers and a flag planted on each grave. Small girls placed the bouquets and one Odd Fellow was appointed for each grave to place the flag in the holder. The ceremony was beautiful and impressive. Rev. W. H. Williams then delivered an excellent address.

Centre Countians Receive Degrees at Penn.

At the commencement last week of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, among those who received the degree of A. M., as a result of post-graduate study, were Prof. William D. Crockatt of State College, Miss Marguerite Armentrout, daughter of a former pastor of Baileyville, and Miss M. Eloise Schuyler of Centre Hall.

Letter from Chicago.

Enclosed please find check for $3.00 to cover subscription to Jan. 1, 1917.

Well, how are all of the people in Centre Hall? We are having lots of rain and cold weather here. The month of April was much warmer than what May and June have been so far.

Business is pretty slow in general here but we have a painters' and carpenters' strike and the street car men expect to go out in a few days. Saturday, June 19, we are going to have a big auto race on the speedway. It is supposed to be the fastest track in the country. Yesterday they made 109.06 miles an hour. The race is for 500 miles and they expect to make 100 miles or better an hour.

Will close with best regards to all.

Letter from New York State.

R. P. Breor, of Horseheads, New York, in subscribing to the Reporter, says among other things: "When I was a boy at home in old Centre county, the Reporter was always a welcome visitor in the family home and now as I have drifted all the way to New York state I think I will find the paper a great benefit through its columns of happening concerning many people—friends and relatives—with whom I had associated."

Farmers at State College.

Farmers living along the Pennsylvania Railroad between Montandon and Elmira celebrated the seventh of a series of farmers' days at the Pennsylvania State College on Wednesday of last week.

Special trains bearing more than 450 farmers and their families arrived at noon. Another 100 came in automobiles and joined the larger party in going over the college experimental farms. In groups of 50 each, the visiting agriculturists were shown experimental work in fertilization, fruit growing, plant and cattle breeding, clean milk production and vegetable gardening.

Centre County People in Picnic.

Centre county folks in Philadelphia gathered in a grand picnic at Belmont Mansion on Saturday afternoon at the twelfth annual basket picnic of the Centre County Association of Philadelphia. Contrary to the usual conditions the day was perfect.

The picnickers gathered early in the afternoon, and all manner of outdoor sports were in order during the daylight hours. After the sports there were several speeches by the officers of the association and invited guests. George W. Stuart, Jr., was one of the prominent speakers, and Rev. James P. Hughes of Bellefonte, also made an address. Mr. Hughes, who is 88 years old, is the oldest living graduate of Princeton, and was the guest of honor during the recent commencement week at that university, from which he was returning.

The old officers, who were re-elected, were: Ira D. Garmar, president; Warner Underwood, first vice president; William F. Furst, second vice president; J. C. C. Beale, secretary, and Dr. F. Gray Matterr, treasurer.

From the Millheim Journal.

Miss Jennie K. Reifsnyder, after spending over six months in California, returned to her home in Millheim on Thursday evening. Miss Reifsnyder visited the Pat-American exposition at San Francisco and numerous other points of interest.

H. H. Leitzell, the butcher, took a sudden and unexpected bath in the Auman mill race on Tuesday afternoon. He was leading his horse through the alley, near Brown's blacksmith shop, when the horse became frightened at something and made a sudden plunge, which scared Mr. Leitzell so much as to cause him to jump into the race.

Fred Cathermar, a son of W. P. Cathermar, of Penn township, was driving one of his father's teams of horses cultivating corn in a lot in Millheim on Tuesday afternoon, and on account of a shower of rain he drove to P. F. Confer's barn for shelter. When the team was stopped one of the horses fell down and died in a few moments, caused by an affection of the heart.

Haines township school directors have had plans draughted and specifications made for a new school building, to replace the old structure that was partly destroyed by fire of an unknown origin early last spring. It is not generally known whether the new building will occupy the site whereon the old structure now stands, but as the state department of public schools must approve all plans, the scholars and teachers in that district can look for something more up-to-date and comfortable than what they have been used to in the past. The Haines township schools are the best equipped of any in this section, and the only eyesore of the district will now be permanently removed.

STATE WINS FROM HOME TEAM.

Outhitting Rivals Two to One, Locals Fail in Pinches.—Score, 5-1—Smith Holds State Hitless in Seven Innings.

Centre Hall met its first reverse of the season on the baseball diamond Thursday of last week, on the occasion of the Sunday-school and community picnic when State College lowered her standard. The score was 5-1, and after the second inning the game was as pretty a one as has been played on the home ground for a long time. Only three errors marred an otherwise perfect game, State College making only one misplay which however did not figure in the run-getting. The visitors were in the main members of the Reformed team who hold a good position in the Sunday-school league at that place. Rev. Horn, a six-footer, and who distinguished himself as a football hero while attending Franklin and Marshall College, only a few years ago, played a grand game on the initial sack. His record of fourteen outs and one assist tells plainly the cause of the home team's defeat. It was a case of too many infield hits that were turned into outs at "first."

Kerlin opened the game for Centre Hall and pitched one inning. Bradford pitched the second and each allowed two runs and two hits. Smith, an old team mate, took the mound in the opening of the third inning and held State hitless for the remaining part of the game. In the sixth inning he displayed the only break in his excellent pitching when he handed out three bases on balls and hit a batsman, thereby forcing in a run. In the other six innings he disposed of the enemy in one, two, three order. Six fanned the breeze. He was grandly supported by his colleagues, every grounder and fly ball being well taken care of by the fielders. Really, no better fielding game was ever played than Thursday's and if this pace can be maintained, the home team should score a number of victories this season.

Harris, for State College, had good control and his ability to work the corners of the plate kept the locals from meeting the ball effectively. State's sixteen assists prove that the ball was hard to bat beyond the inner works. Notwithstanding this, the locals outhit the visitors two to one and after the first two innings played superior ball.

The following box score gives the details:

NOTES ON THE GAME.

Baird, an old team mate, covered centre for State but had no chance to distinguish himself.

Horn, State's reverend first baseman, appeared in the distance like the Washington monument. He fielded well but was weak with the willow.

That relay on Deitrick's attempted home run, in the first inning, was well executed. Four fielders handled the ball in an accurate and speedy manner, retiring the runner close to the plate.

Smith had little trouble with State's batters and appeared to exert himself very little in disposing of them.

Garis was spiked by Deitrick at the plate in the first inning, the spikes penetrating the shoe and stocking and inflicting an ugly wound.

The home team is scheduled to play at Spring Mills today (Thursday) as the principal event on the sport's program for the community picnic at that place.

Eungard-Musser.

J. Arch Eungard of Farmers Mills and Carrie F. Musser, of near Madisonburg, were united in marriage by Rev. R. R. Jones, at the Reformed parsonage, on Thursday morning of last week. The groom is a well known young Penns Valley farmer and the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Musser. Both parties have many friends who wish them a bon voyage on life's sea.

DEATHS.

Harvey H. Miller, a prominent resident of Miles township, died on Saturday noon at his home in Rebersburg, following an apoplectic stroke which he sustained Wednesday previous. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning in the Reformed church, and interment took place in the Rebersburg cemetery, Rev. A. G. Stauffer officiating.

Mr. Miller was born in Miles township and would have reached the age of sixty-eight years on the 27th of this month. He learned the shoemaking trade in early life and later took up the vocation of auctioneering which he followed for sixteen years. He was known throughout Penns and Brush Valleys as one of the best auctioneers of the day and his services were always sought where there was much good farm stock to be disposed of. He quit this work to a great extent several years ago owing to failing health but was busy in the profession of veterinary surgeon. He was a most splendid type of citizen, a member of the Reformed church and held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Surviving him are his wife, who before marriage was Miss Emma Kreamer, and one son, Wallace Miller, of Philadelphia. Two sisters, Mrs. Emma Hazel and Mrs. Cheatie Grim, also survive.

Adam Yearick died at his home at Lamar, Thursday of last week, of a complication of diseases and old age, being eighty-four years, five months and seventeen days old. Funeral services were held in the Reformed church at Jacksonville on Monday, and interment at that place, Rev. Harr, of Lock Haven, officiating.

Mr. Yearick was a well known figure throughout Centre county and always took an active part in politics. He was a stanch Democrat and in 1878 was elected to the office of treasurer of Centre county. He engaged in farming at Jacksonville and continued until the death of his first wife, about eighteen years ago. Five years ago he removed to Lamar. He was a lover of out-door life, his favorite pastime being deer hunting. His method of pursuing deer was on horseback and he succeeded in killing a great number in his time in this manner.

Surviving him are his second wife and the following children: Mrs. Lavina Lee, Hublersburg; Mrs. Susanna Wetzel, Bellefonte; Mrs. Ada Stover, Nebraska; Mrs. Alice Holter, Mrs. Kate Weber, Mrs. Sancta Dorman, Howard; Mrs. Minnie Vonada, Bellefonte; Mrs. Ella Wetzel, Stoystown. One sister, Mrs. Catharine Hoy, aged eighty-three years, of Hublersburg, also survives. Mrs. P. H. Luse of Centre Hall is a niece of the deceased.

Viola Auman died very suddenly at the home of James From, where she had made her home for the past eight years, of heart trouble, a disease with which she had been afflicted for four years. A simple service was held at the From home Sunday afternoon by Rev. F. H. Foss, after which the funeral cortege proceeded to the cemetery connected with the Paradise church, near Coburn, where interment was made, Rev. J. M. Price, the Evangelical minister of Spring Mills, officiating. Deceased was aged thirty years and eleven months. She is survived by her father, Jacob Auman, of near Coburn; one sister, Mrs. Heitzel, of Brownsville, and one brother, Frank B. Auman, of Weikert; also a son, Ralph.

Teacher Training Class Graduates.

A class of thirteen were graduated in Teacher Training, at Tusseyville, (Emanuel's church) on Saturday evening. Essays were read by six members of the class, selected by lot several weeks previous. The following is a partial program:

Essay, The Bible, Miss Rebecca Cox.

Essay, The Public Life of our Lord, Miss Mary Neff.

Essay, The Aim of the Sunday-school, Miss Sarah Frantz.

Essay, Preparation for Teaching in the Sunday-school, Miss Mamie Weaver.

Essay, Graded Lessons, Mrs. D. C. Rossman.

Essay, Methods of Teaching, Miss Elizabeth Bitner.

Rev. C. A. Hauser of Philadelphia, superintendent of the educational department of the Reformed church, was present and delivered an excellent address on "Character Building."

The teacher of the class, Rev. R. R. Jones, was kindly remembered by the class, D. C. Rossman acting as spokesman for the class. The teacher responded to the kind words and gift in a few well selected words.

The Bellefonte shirt factory resumed operations last week after an idleness of fifteen months.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

S. M. Campbell of Millheim underwent an operation in one of the Philadelphia hospitals, last week, for impaired hearing.

Mrs. Ellen M. Stuart, Mrs. Harold Shattuck, of State College, and Miss Margaret Lytle, of Boalsburg, spent Thursday with the former's sister, Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs.

Pleasant Gap will have a new store as a result of the building boom in progress in that hustling town. The firm will be known as Steinberg Bros., and will conduct a general store.

W. Frank Shutt of Wellington, Ohio, paid his first visit to Centre Hall since he removed from here about six years ago. He had been seriously ill for some time but hopes to gain strength on the trip.

Six months in the Centre county jail was the sentence imposed upon George Coble, who mysteriously disappeared from Pleasant Gap several months ago with about $600 of Uncle Sam's postoffice funds. Coble is now serving sentence.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Boozer and James Fetterolf were to Pittsburgh last week and returned with two new Ford cars, driving them home. The greater part of the trip was made over the Lincoln Highway which proved a good stretch of road.

Dr. George E. Hawes, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Bellefonte, was tendered a call to become pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian church at Harrisburg. This call followed a visit of a committee of that church to Bellefonte several weeks ago to hear Dr. Hawes preach.

Miss M. Eloise Schuyler is spending her vacation at the home of her father, Rev. W. H. Schuyler, at the Presbyterian Manse. Miss Schuyler completed a post-graduate course at the University of Pennsylvania, last week, and at commencement received the degree of A. M.

Station agent Jacob Lee of Spring Mills is selling a number of Saxon cars and last week delivered three to the following parties: C. A. Krape, Spring Mills, a Saxon "6" touring car; Boise Brown, rural mail carrier at Spring Mills, electric equipped roadster, and John M. Shope, rural mail carrier at State College, same.

All the teachers of the Millheim public schools who taught there last year were re-elected to the same schools for the coming term, which opens Monday, August 30, for an eight-months period. The corps of teachers and the grades they teach is as follows: Prof. D. P. Stapleton, principal of high school; W. E. Keer, grammar; Miss Eva Moyer, intermediate, and Miss Clara Condo, primary.

Aaron O. Detwiler, who this spring moved onto the Stoner heirs' farm at Tusseyville, promises to have a fine crop of barley judging from the growth at the present time. On Thursday of last week he brought to this office a number of stalks that measured exactly four feet in length. The heads were well formed and filled. He sowed the grain on the 19th day of April, hence had attained this height in less than two months.

William H. Smith, of Spring Mills, and his brother, Luther Smith, of Johnstown, were compelled to return home last week from Chatanooga, Tennessee, which point they had reached in their contemplated trip to the Panama exposition, owing to the latter Mr. Smith becoming suddenly ill. They remained a few days at Chatanooga with the hope that he might recover sufficiently to continue the trip but as his condition became worse, he returned to his home in Johnstown. The brothers had purchased round trip tickets. They hope to start again later in the summer.

Centre Hall may justly feel proud of its baseball team, from the standpoint of their ability as ball players and the clean and sportsmanlike manner in which they conduct themselves on the field. Wrangling with the umpire on every little adverse decision is a thing of the past, and this is as it should be. But such is not the case, unfortunately, as regards the more youthful devotees of the game who line up on both sides of the diamond when a game is in progress and hurl abusive remarks at umpire and opposing players alike. This practice should be suppressed for it is such actions that disgusts spectators who admire fair play and keeps at home the feminine contingent to whose more delicate nature the imprecations indulged in have the most loathsome effect. No one can bring about this improvement of conduct on the ball field better than the home team themselves and they owe it to patrons of the game to put a summary stop to the first repetition of the occurrence.

FIGHTING FURIOUS IN WESTERN BATTLE

The French Forces Penetrate German Trenches.

A DUEL OF BIG GUNS

Berlin Reports That An Allied Force That Attempted To Break Through the German Line Was Destroyed.

London.—The great French drive about Arras and in Alsace continues.

Against the Rhine positions the French made a fresh advance when they crossed the Fecht in Alsace and occupied with their advance guards the outskirts of Metzeral. French gunners, according to the French midnight communique, have now brought under their fire the German communications between Metzeral and Munster, the Germans' base, and the position of the Kaiser's forces at this point is reported to be extremely critical.

An entire attacking force of French troops was destroyed by the Germans north of the LaBassee Canal, according to the Berlin official statement, which admits that the French, on the sector between Souchez and Ecurie, succeeded in penetrating the advance German trenches at several points.

Further admission is made by Berlin that the Germans surrendered a section of trenches to the north of the Lorette heights. This sacrifice, the German report states, was in accord with their plans.

The Berlin statement adds that the French losses on this front have been equal to those suffered by the Allies in the Champagne district, where, according to Berlin, the French percentage of casualties ran exceedingly high.

London.—The following report from Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces on the continent, was given out here:

"The fighting in the northern and southern portions of our front continued throughout June 16, in co-operation with the attack of our ally about Arras.

"East of Ypres all the German first-line trenches which we captured remain in our hands in spite of two counter-attacks, which were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. We were, however, unable to retain those of the enemy's second-line trenches.

"East of Festubert, as a result of a further attack we made a slight advance and, judging by the number of dead Germans in the trenches entered by us, our artillery fire was very effective."

MILLIONS NOW POURING IN.

Treasury Officials Expect Big Surplus For Fiscal Year.

Washington.—The working balance in the United States Treasury, which three weeks ago reached the low mark of $10,000,000, has leaped to $24,000,000, and Treasury officials now anticipate a big surplus by the end of the fiscal year.

Collections from the income and corporation taxes are now pouring into the Treasury at the rate of nearly $1,000,000 a day. The total receipts Thursday were over $4,000,000, of which $931,000 was from the income and corporation taxes. Before the first of June the expenditures were exceeding the receipts at the rate of $10,000,000 per month, and now the tide has turned and more money is coming into the Treasury than is being expended for the first time since the European war started.

WAR UPSET WATERLOO PLANS.

Battlefield Was To Have Been Made Perpetual Memorial.

London.—Less than a year ago preparations were afoot in England to celebrate the centenary of the Battle of Waterloo by purchasing the famous field and dedicating it as a perpetual memorial, but the anniversary with the battlefield in the hands of the Germans, is passing almost unobserved. The only recognition of the centenary were the presentation by the Duke of Wellington to King George, at Windsor Castle, of a miniature French tricolor, and a celebration at Wellington College, erected by public subscription in honor of the Iron Duke.

SHE TOOK UP ARMS FOR RUSSIA.

Colonel's Daughter Made Prisoner In Battle In Galicia.

Berlin, via London.—Among the prisoners taken by General Von Mackensen's army during the fighting in Galicia is the daughter of a Russian colonel. She was dressed in the uniform of a one-year volunteer and has been fighting in the ranks.

SCHWAB TO INCREASE OUTPUT.

Orders Erection Of Another Shell-Loading Plant At Bethlehem.

South Bethlehem, Pa.—C. M. Schwab announced that he had issued orders for the erection of another shell-loading plant at a cost of $60,000. The demand for shrapnel shells from England is so pressing that Mr. Schwab found it necessary to put up the third plant of this kind.

WOULD RESENT U. S. PRESSURE

Chazaro's Defiant Reply to President Wilson.

LOOKS ON NOTE AS ADVICE

Points To Statement That America Does Not Claim Right To Settle Mexico's Affairs—Ready For Fusion Movement.

Washington.—The United States government was informed in a note from Francisco Lagos Chazaro, president of the Villa-Zapata convention government at Mexico City, that if President Wilson's recent statement warning the Mexican factions to compose their differences should signify "pressure or threat," the conventionist government, "still harboring the conscience of its sacrifices, will maintain the dignity of the Mexican people."

The communication, transmitted by the Brazilian Minister at Mexico City, states, however, that the convention continues "to conjecture that the general idea of the government of the United States is to help us in a friendly way to bring to an end our fratricidal struggle which would be for the greatest good of the country."

Questions Wilson's Stand.

After declaring a willingness to make peace with the Carranza faction, the note as made public by the State Department says, in part:

"The Convention government does not see, does not wish to see, in the substance of the declarations made by His Excellency, President Wilson, anything more than an advice, a friendly suggestion to induce the contending groups to wipe out their differences and lead them into the path to the end pursued by the revolution. Coming to the declaration that if we Mexicans cannot settle our differences within a very short time the government of the American Union will find itself constrained to decide as to what means it shall use to bring it about, the Conventionist government cannot understand how President Wilson previously declares in the same note that the United States does not desire or claim any right to settle the affairs of Mexico, and more to the same effect. The same chief of the American nation made at Indianapolis the following categorical declaration:

"'I am proud to belong to a powerful nation which says that country Mexico, which we could crush, will enjoy the same liberty in the management of its affairs as we enjoy. If I am strong I should be ashamed to dictate to the weak in the measure of my strength. My pride consists in keeping my strength free and not in oppressing another people with it."

TROUBLED OVER OPENED MAIL.

Washington May Refer Swedish Minister To Britain.

Washington.—United States officials are confronted with a perplexing problem in connection with the complaint of the Swedish Minister here that private mail from New York to Sweden was opened while passing through England.

As the mails were alleged to have been opened in England and not on the high seas, interesting legal questions have been raised which made it seem doubtful to many officials whether the United States could do more than transmit the complaint to Great Britain for consideration.

HOLD 1,610,000 PRISONERS.

Baravian Paper Credits This Total To Teuton Allies.

Berlin, via London.—The prisoners taken by the German and Austro-Hungarian armies up to June 14 totaled 1,610,000, according to the Bavarian Staats Zeitung. The newspaper says this total is divided as follows: Russians, 1,240,000; French, 255,000; English, 24,000; Belgian, 41,000, and Serbian, 50,000.

NEW PEACE LEAGUE PLAN LAUNCHED

Will Promote Creation of Union of Nations.

W. H. TAFT MADE PRESIDENT

Would Bind Powers Entering It To Strike As Unit Against Any Single Nation That Makes War On Another.

Philadelphia.—Within historic Independence Hall Thursday, the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, there was formed an organization whose object it will be to promote the creation of a league of nations with a view to preventing wars, or, at least, to lessen the possibilities of armed conflicts. The name adopted by the organization after some debate was "League to Enforce Peace, American Branch."

Former President Taft, who presided over the conference a part of the time, was elected permanent president, and, in addition, a long list of representative American citizens was named as permanent vice-presidents. A permanent executive committee was selected, with instructions to take all measures necessary to promote the objects of the league.

In moving the adoption of the report of the committee on resolutions, which embodied the objects of the league, the former President of the United States expressed the hope "that out of this historic building may come a message that shall again help the world."

Force Factor In Peace.

The report of the committee, as adopted, is as follows:

"Throughout 5,000 years of recorded history, peace here and there established has been kept, and its area has been widened in one way only. Individuals have combined their efforts to suppress violence in the local community. Communities have co-operated to maintain the authoritative state and to preserve peace within its borders. States have formed leagues or confederations or have otherwise co-operated to establish peace among themselves. Always peace has been made and kept, when made and kept at all, by the superior power of superior numbers acting in unity for the common good.

"Mindful of this teaching of experience, we believe and solemly urge that the time has come to devise and to create a working union of sovereign nations to establish peace among themselves and to guarantee it by all known and available sanctions at their command, to the end that civilization may be conserved, and the progress of mankind in comfort, enlightenment and happiness may continue.

Mode Of Procedure Provided.

"We, therefore, believe it to be desirable for the United States to join a league of nations by binding the signatories to the following:

"1. All justifiable questions arising between the signatory powers not settled by negotiation shall, subject to the limitations of treaties, be submitted to a judicial tribunal for hearing and judgment, both upon the merits and upon any issue as to its jurisdiction of the question.

"2. All other questions arising between the signatories and not settled by negotiations shall be submitted to a council of conciliation for hearing, consideration and recommendation.

"3. The signatory powers shall jointly use forthwith both their economic and military forces against any one of their number that goes to war or commits acts of hostility against another of the signatories before any question arising shall be submitted as provided in the foregoing.

"4. Conferences between the signatory powers shall be held from time to time to formulate and codify rules of international law, which, unless some signatory shall signify its dissent within a stated period, shall thereafter govern in the decisions of the judicial tribunal mentioned in Article 1."

FIERCE BATTLE IN INFERNO VALLEY

Italians and Austrians Engaged at 7,000 Feet.

STEEL ARMORED TRENCHES

Italians Surprised At the New Military Methods Of the Teutons. Trenches Guarded By Mines and Batteries.

Rome, Italy.—Italian troops are continuing with great vigor attacks upon the Austrian positions at Gorizia. The Austrians are defending the town from the height of Podgora, to the west, and from invisible trenches extending from Podgora to Mont Forton in the Isonzo Valley. It would appear that the Austrians purpose to prevent the Italian march toward Trieste with the threat of Gorizia on their left flank. The Austrian trenches on this front are protected with steel armor and connected with under-ground passages. The men are able to fire from under cover and at the same time they are supported by artillery in the hills behind them.

Italian army officers describe the Austrian actions everywhere as purely defensive except in the Carnia zone, where the best troops have been concentrated apparently for an offensive movement. It is thought here that Austria intends an invasion at this point with the idea of compelling the Italians to concentrate their men for defense.

Fighting is going on fiercely both night and day between the Inferno Valley and Malborgeth. This battlefield is at an elevation of 7,000 feet. Italian reports declare that up to the present the Austrian attacks have resulted in failure.

A war office statement says:

"In the Tyrol-Trentino-Cadore front we gradually are occupying dominating points. Except for distant artillery fire and new, but unsuccessful, attacks on June 13 against the summit of Vellone in the Upper Valley of the Piave (Carnic Alps).

"More intense attacks have been made repeatedly by the enemy in Garnia either near the defiles of Val Sesis, which still is strongly held by us, or especially against the rear line of Mont Avestanis, to the defile of Monte Croce.

"Long distance artillery actions occurred also in the Zone of Monte Nero, on the Selems-Mazli front and on the Kozliak.

"Along the Isonzo, on the line from Podgora to Mont Forton and to the intersection of the Monfalcone Canal, reconnaissances showed the precise quality of the defensive work prepared by the enemy on the Isonzo front. They include entrenchments, sometimes in several lines and often in masonry or in concrete reinforced by metallic sheeting and protected by a network of mines or batteries often placed below the earth.

"A very active night surveillance is exercised by the enemy, aided by searchlights and rockets, with telegraphic and telephonic communication."

40 KILLED BY ZEPPELINS.

80 Persons Injured In Two Raids On England—Britain Building Big German Aeroplanes.

London.—A Zeppelin airship visited the northeast coast of England and dropped bombs.

Some fires were started by the projectiles, but by morning they had been overcome.

The following official statement regarding the raid was issued:

"Further inquiries show that the casualties in connection with the visit of a Zeppelin to the northeast coast Tuesday night amount to 16 killed and 40 injured.

"It is now possible to state more exactly the casualties resulting from an airship raid on another portion of the northeast coast on the night of June 6. The number of deaths there was 24, comprising 5 men, all civilians, 13 women and 6 children. There were also 40 cases of more or less serious injuries.

"The principal fires were in drapery establishments, a lumber yard and a terrace of small houses."

German aeroplanes of great carrying capacity are in process of manufacture for the British Government, according to an announcement made in the House of Commons

This statement was made in reply to the suggestion by a member of the House that machines of this character were needed adequately to deal with raiding Zeppelins.

CO-OPERATING IN ADRIATIC.

Italian Fleet Aiding Anglo-French Warships.

Paris.—The Ministry of Marine gave out an announcement reading:

"The Anglo-French naval forces in the Mediterranean are now co-operating with the Italian fleet, whose participation makes possible a more effective patrol of the Adriatic.

"Warships of the Allies also are actively engaged in finding and destroying oil depots from which the enemy's submarines have been replenishing their supplies."

DOINGS AT THE STATE CAPITAL

Governor O'K.'s Move For Probing Of Increase—Probation Officers Benefited.

Harrisburg.—Governor Brumbaugh announced his approval of the Vare resolution providing for the appointment of a commission of three to investigate the cause of the increase in the price of anthracite coal by operators or dealers, whether justified, or made "as a result of any illegal combination or confederation upon the part of the operators of anthracite coal mines or dealers in anthracite coal." The commissioners are to serve without compensation and are given the usual powers of legislative investigation commissions, including right of subpoena. The commission has $5,000 for expenses and may employ a secretary and call upon the Attorney General for legal advice.

It is understood that the Governor will shortly name the commission as it is charged to make a report to him not later than January 1 next and to the Governor and Legislature not later than January 1, 1917.

Other bills signed were:

Senate bill providing that assessments of damages for the opening or widening of any highway in any municipality shall include all damages at the existing confirmed grade.

Senate bill providing a means for the incorporation and regulation of companies, not for profit, organized for protection and preservation of forests, fish, game and wild life and to encourage and improve breeding of poultry, pigeons and game.

House bill amending second-class city taxation and water rent bill so that they shall be assessed and all appropriations made prior to December 1 for the ensuing fiscal years beginning January 1; changing periods of payment of water rent and regulating collection of delinquent accounts.

Governor In Home Celebration.

Governor Brumbaugh was the central figure in the dedication of the new Federal Building, which was one of Huntingdon's greatest occasions. The ceremonies consisted of a parade in autos and of a program of addresses, with music, at the building. The Governor and his staff had been guests at Juniata College during the forenoon at commencement. The line of parade was fully decorated. The dedication speakers, comprising talent not often gathered at one time upon the rostrum in Huntingdon, were introduced by T. B. Patton, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory.

The presentation address of the building on behalf of the United States Government was made by A. M. Dockery, Third Assistant Postmaster General. The acceptance on behalf of the people of Huntingdon was given by Thomas Fisher Bailey.

Governor Brumbaugh gave a characteristically strong address in the form of "A Talk To His Home Folks." He referred to the occasion as one of double importance because it had brought to Huntingdon a high representative of the Federal Government and the Governor of the State. He then launched upon his theme, which was an account of how the postoffice service had been developed since the days of Benjamin Franklin, first Postmaster General of the United States, and of John Cadwalader, postmaster of Huntingdon at the time it was yet an Indian trading post until the more recent period when he himself was connected with the postal service, carrying mail from Marklesburg to his father's store at the munificent salary of $40 per year.

Expect Cut On Appropriations.

Harrisburg.—Governor Brumbaugh practically finished work on the general appropriation bill and began work in earnest on the bills carrying the appropriations for hospitals, educational institutions and other charities. He announced action on but five measures, spending the day on the financial problems attending appropriations, and having Chairman James F. Woodward, of the House Appropriations Committee, and Bromley Wharton, secretary of the State Board of Public Charities, with him. Just what conclusion the Governor has reached regarding appropriations, he has not indicated, but it is generally believed, because of the searching inquiries made of department chiefs, that the general bill underwent some lively cutting.

Refuse Rate Hearing On Railroads.

Harrisburg.—The Public Service Commission has refused to grant a hearing on the rates of the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads for commutation and suburban service in the vicinity of Philadelphia, as asked by Edwin M. Abbott, of Philadelphia, on May 26. The commission holds that a further hearing was asked and that as no cause is shown for further hearings, the petitioner is referred to the Act governing appeals from decisions of the commission as to the next step.

Police arrested Charles and Michael Fordano, brothers, of Shamokin, for hurling a rock at a number of men engaged in a street fight. The missile fractured the skull of Helen Cozer, a young girl. She is is in a critical condition in the State Hospital.

SYNOPSIS.

—12—

Le Comte de Sabron, captain of French cavalry, takes to his quarters to raise by hand a motherless Irish terrier pup, and names it Pitchoune. He dines with the Marquise d'Esclignac and meets Miss Julia Redmond, American heiress. He is ordered to Algiers but is not allowed to take servants or dogs. Miss Redmond takes care of Pitchoune, who, longing for his master, runs away from her. The marquise plans to marry Julia to the Duc de Tremont. Pitchoune follows Sabron to Algiers, dog and master meet, and Sabron gets permission to keep his dog with him. The Duc de Tremont finds the American heiress capricious. Sabron, wounded in an engagement, falls into the dry bed of a river and is watched over by Pitchoune. After a horrible night and day Pitchoune leaves him. Tremont takes Julia and the marquise to Algiers in his yacht but has doubts about Julia's Red Cross mission. After long search Julia gets trace of Sabron's whereabouts. Julia for the moment turns matchmaker in behalf of Tremont.

CHAPTER XX—Continued.

After a moment, in which the Marquise d'Esclignac gazed at the bougainvillea and wondered how anyone could admire its crude and vulgar color, Miss Redmond asked:

"Did you ever think that the Duc de Tremont was in love?"

Turning shortly about to her niece, her aunt stared at her.

"In love, my dear!"

"With Madame de la Maine."

The arrival of Madame de la Maine had been a bitter blow to the Marquise d'Esclignac. The young woman was, however, much loved in Paris and quite in the eye of the world. There was no possible reason why the Marquise d'Esclignac should avoid her.

"You have been hearing gossip, Julia."

"I have been watching a lovely woman," said the girl simply, "and a man. That's all. You wouldn't want me to marry a man who loves another woman, ma tante, when the woman loves him and when I love another man?"

She laughed and kissed her aunt's cheek.

"Let us think of the soldier," she murmured, "let us think just of him, ma tante, will you not?"

The Marquise d'Esclignac struck her colors.

In the hallway of the villa, in a snowy gibbeh (and his clean-washed appearance was much in his favor), Hammet Abou waited to talk with the "grandmother" and the excellency.

He pressed both his hands to his forehead and his breast as the ladies entered the vestibule. There was a stagnant odor of myrrh and sandalwood in the air. The marble vestibule was cool and dark, the walls hung with high-colored stuffs, the windows drawn to keep out the heat.

The Duc de Tremont and Madame de la Maine came out of the salon together. Tremont nodded to the Arab.

"I hope you are a little less—" and he touched his forehead smiling, "today, my friend."

"I am as God made me, Monsieur."

"What have you got today?" asked Julia Redmond anxiously, fixing her eager eyes upon Hammet.

It seemed terrible to her that this man should stand there with a vital secret and that they should not all be at his feet. He glanced boldly around at them.

"There are no soldiers here?"

"No, no, you may speak freely."

The man went forward to Tremont and put a paper in his hands, unfolding it like a chart.

"This is what monsieur asked me for—a plan of the battlefield. This is the battlefield, and this is the desert."

Tremont took the chart. On the page was simply a round circle, drawn in red ink, with a few Arabian characters and nothing else. Hammet Abou traced the circle with his fingers tipped with henna.

"That was the battle, Monsieur."

"But this is no chart, Hammet Abou."

The other continued, unmoved:

"And all the rest is a desert, like this."

Tremont, over the man's snowy turban, glanced at the others and shrugged. Every one but Julia Redmond thought he was insane. She came up to him where he stood close to Tremont. She said very slowly in French, compelling the man's dark eyes to meet hers:

"You don't wish to tell us, Hammet Abou, anything more. Am I not right? You don't wish us to know the truth."

Now it was the American pitted against the Oriental. The Arab, with deference, touched his forehead before her.

"If I made a true plan," he said coolly, "your excellency could give it tomorrow to the government."

"Just what should be done, Julia," said the Marquise d'Esclignac, in English. "This man should be arrested at once."

"Ma tante," pleaded Julia Redmond.

She felt as though a slender thread was between her fingers, a thread which led her to the door of a labyrinth and which a rude touch might cause her to lose forever.

"If you had money would you start out to find Monsieur de Sabron at once?"

"It would cost a great deal, Excellency."

"You shall have all the money you need. Do you think you would be able to find your way?"

"Yes, Excellency."

The Duc de Tremont watched the American girl. She was bartering with an Arabian for the salvation of a poor officer. What an enthusiast! He had no idea she had ever seen Sabron more than once or twice in her life. He came forward.

"Let me talk to this man," he said with authority, and Julia Redmond did not dispute him.

In a tone different from the light and mocking one that he had hitherto used to the Arab, Tremont began to ask a dozen questions severely, and in his answers to the young Frenchman, Hammet Abou began to make a favorable impression on every one save the Marquise d'Esclignac, who did not understand him. There was a huge bamboo chair on a dais under a Chinese pagoda, and the Marquise d'Esclignac took the chair and sat upright as on a throne. Mimi, who had just been fed, came in tinkling her little bells and fawned at the sandals on Hammet Abou's bare feet. After talking with the native, Tremont said to his friends:

"This man says that if he joins a Jewish caravan, which leaves here tomorrow at sundown, he will be taken with these men and leave the city without suspicion, but he must share the expenses of the whole caravan. The expedition will not be without danger; it must be entered into with great subtlety. He is either," said Tremont, "an impostor or a remarkable man."

"He is an impostor, of course," murmured the Marquise d'Esclignac. "Come here, Mimi."

Tremont went on:

"Further he will not disclose to us. He has evidently some carefully laid plan for rescuing Sabron."

There was a pause. Hammet Abou, his hands folded peacefully across his breast, waited. Julia Redmond waited. The Comtesse de la Maine, in her pretty voice, asked quickly:

"But, mes amis, there is a man's life at stake! Why do we stand here talking in the antechamber? Evident-

Tremont Began to Ask a Dozen Questions.

ly the war office has done all it can for the Capitaine de Sabron. But they have not found him. Whether this fellow is crazy or not, he has a wonderful hypothesis."

A brilliant look of gratitude crossed Julia Redmond's face. She glanced at the Comtesse de la Maine.

"Ah, she's got the heart!" she said to herself. "I knew it." She crossed the hall to the Comtesse de la Maine and slipped her arm in hers.

"Has Monsieur de Sabron no near family?"

"No," said the Marquise d'Esclignac from her throne. "He is one of those unfamilied beings who, when they are once taken into other hearts are all the dearer because of their orphaned state."

Her tone was not unkind. It was affectionate.

"Now, my good man," she said to Hammet Abou, in a language totally incomprehensible to him, "money is no object in this question, but what will you do with Monsieur de Sabron if you find him? He may be an invalid, and the ransom will be fabulous."

The Comtesse de la Maine felt the girl's arm in hers tremble. Hammet Abou answered none of these questions, for he did not understand them. He said quietly to Tremont:

"The caravan starts tomorrow at sundown and there is much to do."

Tremont stood pulling his mustache. He looked boyish and charming, withal serious beyond his usual habit. His eyes wandered over to the corner where the two women stood together.

"I intend to go with you, Hammet Abou," said he slowly, "if it can be arranged. Otherwise this expedition does not interest me."

Two women said:

"Oh, heavens!" at once.

Robert de Tremont heard the note of anxiety in the younger voice alone. He glanced at the Comtesse de la Maine.

"You are quite right, Madame," he said, "a man's life is at stake and we stand chaffing here. I know something of what the desert is and what the natives are. Sabron would be the first to go if it were a question of a brother officer."

The Marquise d'Esclignac got down from her throne, trembling. Her eyes were fixed upon her niece.

"Julia," she began, and stopped.

Madame de la Maine said nothing.

"Robert, you are my godson, and I forbid it. Your mother—"

"—is one of the bravest women I ever knew," said her godson. "My father was a soldier."

Julia withdrew her arm from the Comtesse de la Maine as though to leave her free.

"Then you two girls," said the Marquise d'Esclignac, thoroughly American for a moment, "must forbid him to go." She fixed her eyes sternly upon her niece, with a glance of entreaty and reproach. Miss Redmond said in a firm voice:

"In Monsieur de Tremont's case I should do exactly what he proposes."

"But he is risking his life," said the Marquise d'Esclignac. "He is not even an intimate friend of Monsieur de Sabron!"

Tremont said, smiling:

"You tell us that he has no brother, marraine. Eh bien, I will pass as his brother."

A thrill touched Julia Redmond's heart. She almost loved him. If, as her aunt had said, Sabron had been out of the question . . .

"Madame de la Maine," said the Marquise d'Esclignac, her hands shaking, "I appeal to you to divert this headstrong young man from his purpose."

The Comtesse de la Maine was the palest of the three women. She had been quietly looking at Tremont and now a smile crossed her lips that had tears back of it—one of those beautiful smiles that mean so much on a woman's face. She was the only one of the three who had not yet spoken. Tremont was waiting for her. Hammet Abou, with whom he had been in earnest conversation, was answering his further questions. The Marquise d'Esclignac shrugged, threw up her hands as though she gave up all questions of romance, rescue and disappointed love and foolish girls, and walked out thoroughly wretched, Mimi tinkling at her heels. The Comtesse de la Maine said to Julia:

"Ma chere, what were the words of the English song you sang last night—the song you told me was a sort of prayer. Tell me the words slowly, will you?"

They walked out of the vestibule together, leaving Hammet Abou and Tremont alone.

CHAPTER XXI.

Master and Friend.

Pitchoune, who might have been considered as one of the infinitesimal atoms in the economy of the universe, ran over the sands away from his master. He was an infinitesimal dot on the desert's face. He was only a small Irish terrier in the heart of the Sahara. His little wiry body and his color seemed to blend with the dust. His eyes were dimmed by hunger and thirst and exhaustion, but there was the blood of a fighter in him and he was a thoroughbred. Nevertheless, he was running away. It looked very much like it. There was no one to comment on his treachery; had there been, Pitchoune would not have run far.

It was not an ordinary sight to see on the Sahara—a small Irish terrier going as fast as he could.

Rome's Colossal Fish Pond.

The duke of Sermoneta who is acting as president of the committee formed in Rome to promote the independence of Poland, ranks among the greatest landowners in Italy, Fogliano, his estate near the Pontine marshes, extending to 80,000 acres, mainly under grass, for the duke owns vast herds of cattle. The most productive portion of the estate, however, is a lake several miles long and about a mile in breadth, which, from the time of the Roman empire downward, has supplied fish for the market in Rome. Whenever there is a flood by rain on the hills the lake overflows through a narrow channel into the sea. The sea fish find their way through into the lake, and remain to fatten in the fresh water, and then are captured on their return by an ingenious labyrinth constructed of reeds into which they swim. They are of the best kind—chiefly gray mullet.

And That Spoiled It.

Douglas Fairbanks went to a social affair the other night and an admiring woman cornered him.

"Oh, Mr. Fairbanks," she said, "your acting is wonderful."

"Thank you," he replied.

"It's marvelous how you bring out the different emotions."

"I'm glad you appreciate my work."

"Yes, indeed, you are a great actor."

"You are indeed complimentary."

"And do you know," the woman rattled on, "I have a little five-year-old son at home who acts exactly like you do."

Bathers and Rescuers Drowned at Atlantic City.

HORRIFIED CROWDS WATCH

Several Lose Their Lives Trying To Save Others—A Young Girl's Pathetic Death—Most Of the Victims Were Philadelphians.

Atlantic City.—Lashed and beaten into helplessness by merciless waves and powerless in the grip of an undertow against which human might was puny and futile, eight persons met their deaths on the beach Sunday, while heroes, red-shirted beach guards and bathers who took their lives into their own hands battled desperately against tremendous odds to save them.

Thousands lined the boardwalk and beach, women ringing their hands and weeping bitterly, as a tragedy, heartbreaking in its intensity, was enacted before their eyes.

For the space of more than 30 minutes more than 200 lives were placed in direct peril by the pounding surf herding them into a deep "slue" running seaward from the strand at Chelsea avenue. Three others, one of them a young woman, are missing, and may have met the same fate.

FIGHT AT 10,500 FEET.

French Aviator Attacks German At That Height—Latter Falls Like Stone.

Paris.—The following official account of an engagement between a French and a German aeroplane was given out in Paris:

"An enemy aeroplane having been observed over our lines at Aspach, near Thann, in upper Alsace, one of our aviator sergeants took wing and mounted in 30 minutes to a height of 10,500 feet. At this altitude he engaged his enemy with a machine gun.

"To this fire the German replied with his machine gun, and one of his bullets struck the motor of the French machine. The sergeant again ascended to a position above his adversary and fired three bands of cartridges. During the third round the German aviator was seen by the Frenchman suddenly to throw his arms into the air. His machine then began to fall, and it came down like a stone inside of our line.

"The French aviator came down under control. Once on the ground he examined his machine. He found that bullets fired by his antagonist had perforated his cylinder, penetrated the steel shield at the back of the motor, and riddled his sails. The Frenchman himself was slightly wounded in the neck."

KAISER QUOTED FOR PEACE.

But Wants It "Profitable" For Germany, Alleged Letter Says.

Paris.—Extracts from a letter said to have been sent by Emperor William to a personage connected with the Bavarian court, and published in Spain, are reproduced by the Matin. The Emperor is quoted as saying, in part:

"Our only object is a peace profitable for the German states. This peace may be concluded sooner than thought. If it gave for the time being only an incomplete result it would at least serve as a preparation for the future. It could be signed tomorrow if I wished.

"When my august grandfather placed the empire on its present basis he did not pretend to have realized a completed work. The empire always is susceptible of growth. What cannot be achieved today will be achieved later."

TO AID BLIND SOLDIERS.

Keeper Of the "Lighthouse" Sails For French City.

New York.—Miss Winifred Holt, keeper of the "Lighthouse," the institution of the New York Association for the Blind, sailed on the steamer Rochambeau, to organize a corps of workers abroad who will look after the victims of the European war who have lost their sight. Assistance in teaching them to become self-supporting will be the object of the work, and regular courses of training will be begun where practicable. Many prominent persons have interested themselves in the financing of the effort.

RECRUITING IN U. S. CHARGED.

Government Probing Alleged Activity Of England.

San Francisco.—Agents of the Department of Justice are investigating alleged recruiting in California for the Allies in the European war. The main office of the supposed recruiting agents is in San Francisco. Franz Bopp, Consul-General for Germany in San Francisco, was said to have supplied information upon which the investigating is based, but he denied this. On good authority, it was stated that some of the investigators had found no trouble in enlisting.

During a recent windstorm the pressure was too strong for a stave silo on the H. W. Frantz farm, at Erlystown, to withstand it and toppled over. The silo had not been sufficiently guyed. The structure will be rebuilt as Mr. Frantz learned the value of ensilage during the short period the silo did service.

A meeting will be held at the Odd Fellows' Orphanage, east of Sunbury, on July 12 and 13. More than 250 representatives from 32 counties in Central Pennsylvania will be in attendance. Millheim's Evangelistic Campaign.

The fourth week in Evangelist Paul Brown's campaign in Millheim is ended and interest is steadily increasing. Wednesday evening of last week was Fraternity night, and the largest crowd of the campaign was in attendance. All the seating capacity was taken early and the centre section was almost full with members of different secret organizations of the community. Many persons were not able to even get in the doors of the tabernacle because of the crowd. Close to two thousand persons listened to the splendid sermon on "Friendship," by the evangelist. Many persons expressed themselves that this was the best sermon of the kind they had ever heard.

Friday evening, "Musical Night" was well attended, and a splendid musical program was carried out in connection with the other services.

On Sunday, the morning service especially for Christians, was as usual devoted to a consecration service. A message urging the people to plan to save every unsaved person in the community, was the main thought of the sermon. Almost all men can be saved if approached in a right manner.

In the afternoon about eight hundred men came to hear the message of "Man or Beast." Man has a two-fold life, the animal nature, and the spiritual nature. If he sets aside the spiritual part, he becomes nothing more than a beast, while if he cares for the things of the spirit he becomes a child of God.

In the evening the building was crowded to its full capacity again. The message of the evening was the "Good Shepherd." The presence of God was manifested wonderfully among the people present, for when the invitation was given thirty-three persons came forward and surrendered to Christ. This makes a total for the campaign up until Sunday of 202 converts. Many more are hesitating and will come later. The meeting seems to be just now getting hold of the unsaved and it is hoped that hundreds more may come before the close of the meetings.

A wonderful spirit of prayer is moving among the people of Millheim and the community. Men are praying and talking of religion who have not known what prayer meant. The Christian people have been brought together in such a manner as to learn to know each other better and this enables them to throw away all prejudices of the past. Men and women have forgotten for the time being, their several church names and are just all of the same family, followers of Christ working for the advancement of his kingdom. ***

W. D. Reel, state superintendent of the Home Department, who is planning for greater activity in "the other half of the Sunday-school," was in attendance and suggested that all district conventions be held before the county convention so that reports could be received, and that district presidents be made members of the executive committee.

Treasurer Tressler reported the total receipts $232.40, and expenditures $207.80, leaving a balance of $24.60. Out of one hundred and fifty schools in the county but fifty-seven paid their share for county work.

CAR MAKES WILD DASH—MAN AND WIFE HURT IN JUMPING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yearick of Madisonburg Sustain Severe Injuries—May Prove Fatal to Mrs. Yearick.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yearick of Madisonburg were severely injured when they jumped from an automobile which appeared to have gotten beyond the control of the driver in making the descent down the mountain near Madisonburg, Monday afternoon. As a result Mr. Yearick had two ribs broken, his head cut and his face badly lacerated. Mrs. Yearick sustained a broken jaw, a broken nose, a broken ankle and other injuries and was rendered unconscious. She is in a critical condition and her friends fear for her recovery.

The accident happened on the return home from the funeral of Adam Yearick, in Nittany, on Monday afternoon. The car was driven by Charles A. Duck and when the descent from the mountain top began the car gained considerable speed. When Mr. Duck suddenly applied the brake, the apparatus broke and the car rushed down the mountain road with a great burst of speed. Mr. Duck assured them that he would reach the foot of the hill in safety but Mr. Yearick thought the risk too great and sprang from the car. Mrs. Yearick followed her husband and was hurled with great force onto the mountain road. After reaching level road the car was brought to a stop. Jacob Royer was seated on the front seat with Mr. Duck and he remained in the car during its wild run.

On Wednesday noon Mr. Yearick was reported as improving while Mrs. Yearick, who is fifty-eight years of age, was in a very serious condition and growing weaker.

Miss Florence Rhone, just returned from Kansas, gave her impressions of the workings of woman suffrage in that state, and Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte, spoke in a reminiscent way, dwelling particularly upon the old settlers in Penns Valley and the great improvements in modes of farming, traveling, warring. Many of the picnickers remained for supper, and then returned to their homes delighted with the outcome of the day.

Among the bills vetoed by Governor Brumbaugh, on Saturday, was one of interest to trout fishermen, which provided that trout under the legal length of six inches could be retained instead of requiring that they be thrown back into the stream. PECULIAR TRIPLE PLAY

Crawford Hits Safely, but Is "Killed" With Two Others.

"Wild Bill" Donovan Relates Exceptional Play in Exhibition Game—Three Players Retired on a Clean Single.

During a fanning bee recently several well-known players were discussing exceptional happenings in baseball. Plays of every kind and variety were mentioned until the conversation had veered around to Wild Bill Donovan, who had smilingly accepted the statements. There was a lull in the story telling when Wild Bill put in:

"Did any of you fellows ever see a triple killing on a single? When the All Nationals went west in 1902 we opened against another all-star aggregation at Hamilton, O. In the first inning of the game we got a man on first and second, nobody out and Wahoo Sam Crawford at bat. Red Dooin was catching for them and Miller Huggins was playing second base.

"Sam gave the hit-and-run signal and the men on bases started with the pitch. Sam met the ball squarely for a single into left field. The man on second rounded third for home and the man on first tore around second for third.

"Lefty Houtz was playing left field for the other side and he came in with the crack of the bat, scooped the ball off the ground and shot it to Dooin on a line.

"Wild Bill" Donovan.

"The man who had rounded third saw the ball was going to beat him to the plate so he stopped and started back to third. The other runner also turned round, touched third, and started back to second.

"Crawford was already past first and tearing for second. Dooin sized up the play immediately, made a bluff throw to third and whipped the ball to Huggins, who touched Crawford, sliding into second feet first, then turned in time to put the ball on the other man coming back to second head first.

"The man who was almost to the plate, and who turned back, was standing off third watching the play when

Sam Crawford.

Huggins touched Sam and the other player, then wheeled and threw to third, nailing his man for the third out."

"You win," was the verdict of the fanning players.

Eight Double Plays Made.

The Detroit-St. Louis game of April 27 at Detroit was remarkable for eight double plays being made. Lowdermilk, pitching for the Browns, gave nine bases on balls and hit a man, and only twenty Tigers were officially at bat in the home team's eight innings. The Browns had twenty-four assists. Three Tigers struck out, but every other play required at least one assist and one play called for three.

ZWILLING IS LEADER OF WHALES AT BAT

"Dutch" Zwilling of Whales at Bat.

Where does "Dutch" Zwilling get the force behind his bat that enables the Whale center fielder to bag so many home runs? is a question the North side fans frequently ask. The only explanation is the powerful shoulders of the outfielder and his easy swing of the body which goes with the bat.

Zwilling stands five feet six inches and a trifle over and weighs only 160 pounds. He is probably the most feared hitter in the Federal league, with the possible exception of Bennie Kauff of the Brooklyn Tiptops.

Pitchers would rather give Zwilling a free ticket to first base than to see him lean on the ball in the last few innings with his home team one run behind, writes John O. Seys in Chicago News.

Zwilling hits much like Frank Schulte, the home-run getter of the Cub team. Frank had the habit of slamming the ball against the score board in right field on the West side grounds, and occasionally he would lift the sphere over the top of the big sign. Frank does not swing hard at a ball, at least he does not appear to have any unusual amount of speed, but he can hit 'em as far as anyone in the game.

The same may be said of Zwilling. He moves forward with his swing and has tremendous driving power in those broad shoulders.

Zwilling led the Federal league last year with 16 home runs and was awarded a silver bat and ball for leading the Chicago team in batting with an average of .308. One feature about Zwilling's hard hitting is the fact that he is just as effective against left-handed pitchers as against right and he bats left handed.

Zwilling is also a wonderful fielder, being able to cover a lot of ground. He is not a fast base runner, as he is a slow starter, but when he gets going he takes a big stride and covers ground fast.

HORROR IS RIGHT

Cy Pieh was pitching for New York and the Sox fans were having fun with his name.

"Mince is pitching," yelled one joker.

"Lemon Pieh," howled a bleacherite.

"He's a huckleberry," shouted a third.

Pieh stopped to object to a decision on a ball.

"He's cussed hard," yelled a punster.

"Awful crust he has, trying to beat the Sox."

"Don't mince matters," screamed another.

"Three strikes," howled the umps.

"Got his desserts," yelled a New York fan, and the horror was over.

EARL MOORE WITH AMATEURS

Former Buffalo Pitcher to Join Cleveland Aggregation—Refused to Stand Salary Cut.

Earl Moore, formerly of the Phillies, Cleveland and other clubs, is going to turn "amateur." The quotation marks are used advisedly, for amateur ball players in Cleveland get the money just the same. Earl's home is in Cleveland. He signed with the Buffalo Federals last year, but refused to stand for a cut in salary this season and quit the Feds. Now that Earl has an opportunity to play with the Telling-Strollers of the Cleveland Amateur Baseball association, there is some question as to his eligibility and the commission which has charge of the games will have to stretch the eligibility rules to permit Earl to take part in the games. According to the Cleveland Press, the managers in the league have a hunch that the commission will permit them to use any players not under contract to professional clubs and are scrambling to sign several stars who are now temporarily out of work.

Fed Players Must Hustle.

The easy life has passed for Federal league players. The Colonial league, where they may be shipped in case of a slump, is making all of the athletes hustle to stay in the bigger circuit.

LACING AS TRIMMING

RATHER OLD FASHION THAT IS ONCE MORE IN VOGUE.

Illustration Shows How Effective It May Be Made—White Batiste the Best Material for the Collar and Vest.

Lacing as a trimming is revived in the way of novelty every once in a while, and, judging from its present vogue, this is one time. There is something quaintly attractive about the fad, but in many cases it is overdone. Just a touch is all that is needed, and it usually occurs at the neck and sleeve ends of a blouse, and, probably, the girdle.

Here in the model sketched we find the sleeve ends laced and the back of the bodice. That last sounds inconvenient, doesn't it? But the effect is really too pretty to forego, and, besides, the world is full of kindly disposed souls, who can on most occasions be induced to help one in and out of difficult things and thus save us contortions.

In geranium-coral faille or any of the lovely rose tones this chic little frock will commend itself to those of you who love pretty clothes. The lacings are merely narrow bias folds of the silk knotted at the ends and run through strongly buttonholed eyelets.

As the long sleeves are not set into the armholes of the bodice, it will be necessary to use white china silk or something equally thin for a foundation blouse into the armholes of which the sleeves may be sewed. White batiste is used for the collar and the vest, and by supplying snappers around its inside edge it can be fastened to the foundation blouse and be removed for laundering.

The bodice shows a rather deep V in front, but in back is rounded in a shallow curve about the neck. The length is extended a bit below the waist line and in front cut to give the effect of little vest corners, then draped up in place by means of a vertical line of shirring through the center. The wide armsides are bordered with a set-on braid of fine tucks. As the lacing down the back of the waist must not be drawn tightly together, a narrow underpanel of the silk must be sewed down the foundation blouse for a background.

Lacing Gives a Quaint Touch to This Pretty Frock.

The skirt is in two flounces, and so a knee-length foundation is needed. Both are gathered evenly and rather full about the top, then finished above the hem with a six-inch border of fine tucks that serves to hold the flounces away from the figure.

In frocks of this description the best results can be had by selecting a good, crisp quality of silk, because the design needs a bouffancy that could hardly be acquired with the softer silks.

FINE COMBINATION OF COLOR

Example of What May Be Done by Contrasting the Shades That Have Widest Difference.

Black and white being the mode in Paris must, of course, be the mode on this side of the water, and very beautiful effects are achieved by this striking color combination. In the example here the bodice of plain black silk is straight and severe with prim little turn-over collar and cuffs of white, lace-edged. Wide bretelles of the stripe are gathered into black-and-white-striped silk covered buckles on the shoulders. The skirt of the stripe is cut bias and opens over a "V" shaped piece of plain black silk which, like the blouse, fastens with black silk covered buttons in buttonholes done in white. The belt and buckle are of plain black silk and a band of the same finishes the bodice.

Rainy Day Hospital.

When the children break a doll or toy we tie it up and put it in a box which is used for broken toys. On a rainy day we open a carpenter's shop and a hospital. The furniture is put on the table, where nails, hammer, glue and so forth are found. The dolls are put to bed, each with a ticket pinned on with its number. As each number is called the patient is operated on with needle or glue as needed. Later we play carpenter's shop and mend the furniture.

To Season Utensils.

New agate and tin cooking utensils require seasoning before they are used. To do this, simply let them stand on the back of the range for two hours, filled with scalding water and bicarbonate of soda, one teaspoonful to a quart of water, then wash and dry in the regular manner.

Serge in Many Forms.

There are many forms of the silk serge, ranging from a twill almost invisible to a heavy diagonal; but the surah weave is a medium twill and is extremely good looking, either in plain one-tone colorings or in black or color with hair line stripes of white.

CARE OF FACE IN SUMMER

Hot Weather Particularly the Time When Complexion Must Be Made a Matter of Moment.

Summer is not a season of pure delight to the woman who values a good complexion. During the warm months extra precautions are necessary in order to preserve the texture and beauty of the skin, for hot winds, hot sunshine and salt water all play havoc with the complexion.

It is hardly possible to go about with a protection in the form of a veil wrapped about one's face, for this is too warm for comfort, and disagreeable and dangerous to the eyes, besides. But there are certain precautions which can be taken to relieve the burning sensation which comes from exposure to the sun. When you have been out in the hot summer air and allowed the sun's rays to kiss your cheeks you will find, of course, that your skin will become red and dry from this reckless exposure. Don't come in from out of doors, where you have been enjoying a motor trip or a game of tennis and wash the dust and dirt from your skin with soap and water. This only increases the burning sensation and the dryness of the skin.

First rub on a quantity of cold cream and rub thoroughly with a soft cloth. After the irritation has been somewhat lessened the face should then be thoroughly washed and cleansed. Fill a basin two-thirds full of fresh soft water. Should the water which flows from the faucet be hard, then soften it with a teaspoonful of borax to every basin. Dip the face in the water, and afterward the hands. Soap the hands well and rub with a gentle motion over the face. Dip the face a second time into the water in the basin, rinse thoroughly and dry with a thick, soft towel. After the facial bath apply some simple lotion, slightly astringent. It will be found very refreshing.

The use of a good cleansing cream before the facial bath and a suitable lotion afterward has a really wonderful effect in improving the complexion. The effect of a clean face is in itself altogether delightful. Such a bath tends to rest and refresh the bather and put her in a good temper. Many a bad complexion is due to nothing more nor less than neglect of a proper cleaning process. If more faces were kept really clean a great improvement in the appearance would be noticed.

Harlequin Designs Popular.

The profusion of black and white worn this season lends itself nicely to the new popular harlequin designs in squares and diamond shapes. They are almost too striking for people to want them for whole dresses, but they are charming in combination with plain black. The slender woman can wear them well.

When Making Buttonholes.

To make buttonholes on thin material, before cutting the buttonholes baste a piece of India linon or muslin underneath where the buttonholes are to be. Cut the buttonholes through both and work. When finished, cut away the piece of goods underneath close to the work, and the result is a good, firm buttonhole.

When there is a family reunion the men present enjoy it almost as much as they do a funeral.

At the Club.

"So our proposal was laid on the table, after all."

"I thought it would be dished."

Ancient Artisans in Africa.

The question has often been asked: Was there any earlier race in occupation of the area in Africa at present held by the Bantus? In Man W. H. Beech reports that in the Kikuyu country some ancient pottery has been said to be the work of a people called Gumba, who displaced the Miathoachiana, cannibal dwarfs.

These Miathoachiana are now believed to be earth-gnomes, skilled in the art of iron working. Mr. Beech, with some amount of plausibility, suggests that they were possibly bushmen, pygmies, or both, and that they were a local indigenous race of the stone age who used flint implements often found in the Kikuyu country. The Gumba are said to have made pottery and to have taught the Kikuyu the art of smelting. They may have been pre-Bantau Hamite invaders; but of this there is no evidence and the legend may tend to show that the first discovery of iron was made in Africa.

OVERLOOK THE GARDEN

Average Farmer Fails to Appreciate Rare Privilege.

One That Is Poorly Planned and Not Well Kept Is Anything But Good Advertisement—Value Cannot be Reckoned in Money.

(By O. M. CLARK.)

The pleasure and profit to be derived from a good vegetable garden is a privilege enjoyed to its fullest extent only by those leading a rural life; but, strange to say, the average farmer painfully fails to appreciate this rare privilege. In fact, in many cases he neglects this opportunity to such a pitiful extent that we are prone to think that he, more than any other person who pretends to have a garden at all, needs to be urged to have, and informed how to make and maintain, a good vegetable garden. The farmer used to large areas of general farm crops feels that he is stooping from his dignity or is wasting his time when he undertakes anything so small as he imagines the vegetable garden to be; consequently, he plows it, perhaps, and leaves the planting and tilling to the "women folks." As a matter of fact, there is not on the farm a piece of land of the same area, the profit of which approaches anywhere near to that of the vegetable garden. An authority on this subject says: "From careful observation the statement can be safely made that a well-kept garden will yield a return 10 to 15 times greater than would the same area if devoted to general farm crops." Besides, the fact that there can be had at a minute's notice a bountiful supply of fresh, clean vegetables is a value that cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

A Handy Garden Tool.

The great question of keeping the boy and girl on the farm would be more than half solved if people would only realize the important part the vegetable garden plays in this regard. It is hardly likely that too much attention can be given the vegetables, for if there is a surplus of any kind of produce, a ready market may be found for it in the nearby towns.

In locating the garden, the question of its proximity to the house is of vast importance, for naturally most of the work is done during spare moments that could not be taken advantage of if the garden were located a half mile from the house. Too often it is the case that all of the gathering and most of the work is done by the farmer's wife. Even where the work is done by a man, the women of the household go back and forth between the house and garden many times during the year. All these things tend to add to the work of the already overburdened housewife, which condition could be materially improved by exercising a little care and forethought in locating the garden spot.

The general lay of the land determines to a considerable extent the earliness of the garden crops. Well-drained land sloping gently to the south or southeast is preferable for the production of early vegetables. Wind barriers, such as hills, woods, hedges, buildings, etc., on the north and northwest produce much the same effect. If none of these are so located that they can be taken advantage of, a tight board fence will answer the purpose, and at the same time act as a safeguard against farm animals and poultry. Choose a location that is well drained or bring it to this conditions after it has been chosen. None of the vegetables will tolerate "wet feet." In many cases it will pay a hundred per cent to tile drain the garden.

BAD DISEASE AMONG CATTLE

Infectious Abortion Entitled to Rank in Importance With Tuberculosis and Hog Cholera.

Infectious abortion among cattle has become one of the most serious problems for cattle owners so far as infectious diseases are concerned. It is well entitled to rank in importance with tuberculosis, hog cholera and Texas fever. Two new medical treatments have recently appeared, either one of which may possibly prove to be of very great importance. One abortin is used, like tuberculin, as a diagnostic; and the other is a vaccine, which it is hoped will immunize heifers against the infection. There is not sufficient reliable information available as yet, upon which to justify any definite statement. Breeders should keep these things in mind and watch for future development.

RIGHT AGE TO BREED GILTS

Eight Months Is Period Adopted by Most Practical and Successful Breeders of Swine.

It is generally conceded among the most practical and successful breeders that to obtain the best results a gilt should not be bred until at least eight months old, says Farmers' Advocate. Many of the most noted breeders will under no circumstances breed a gilt under twelve months where they intend keeping her for their own use.

To any thinking man it is perfectly clear and reasonable that a half-grown undeveloped young sow that was bred when a mere pig herself cannot possibly raise a fair-sized litter of thrifty, growing pigs as satisfactorily as a large, matured sow.

To wean pigs before they have been taught to eat will give them a check for at least two weeks.

METHOD OF TOMATO CULTURE

Plants for Fall Crop Should Be Set Out During First Part of July—Keep Out All Weeds.

From the 1st to the 15th of July is the proper time to set out the plants for fruiting in September and October. The Improved Queen, Livingston Prize and Acme are the three popular varieties for the retail market or for home use. The ground should be deeply plowed, harrowed and rolled so as to be fine and mellow.

Run out the rows with the one-horse plow; run twice in each row. The furrow should be at least six inches deep. Put one-half forkful of rotted manure about three feet apart in the row. Spread one handful of some good bone fertilizer over the manure, then mix the two together.

Cover with about two inches of mellow earth. Make low, flat hills, just even with the surface. Set one stout, stocky plant in each hill; set the plant deep, up to the first leaf. If the weather is hot and dry, fill the dibble hole with water, set in the plant and draw the earth close to the roots.

The next morning cover the plants with two or three little bushes to prevent the sun from scorching the leaves and drying out the moisture. Leave the covering on until the plants start to grow. Water late in the evening if soil is dry.

As soon as plants start growth remove the covering, run the cultivator between the rows, going close to the plants, then with the hoe draw the mellow earth close up to the stems. Give frequent and thorough culture throughout the season. Keep the soil loose.

The early and second early plants should be kept free of grass and weeds. Throw a furrow to the plants before the vines commence to spread, and with the hoe make a good bed of mellow earth for the vines to rest on. This bed of mellow soil will keep the roots cool and prevent evaporation of the moisture in the lower soil which the vines need for the perfection of large, well-ripened fruit. Try this method of tomato culture.

MANY USES FOR A WINDMILL

Kentucky Farmer Secures Power for Cream Separator, Churn and Water Plant for the Farm.

Not only is it possible to have fresh water for the stock always on hand, but there are several other advantages to be obtained from the farm windmill. A farmer of Kentucky has so arranged his windmill that its power is made to turn the grindstone, the cream separator and the churn; furnish the water supply for the house; water the kitchen garden; sprinkle the lawn and front yard; wash his horses as well as his wagons and buggies, and do many other odd jobs about the place. This farmer says it saves him a hired man, and is one of the most useful and necessary implements on the farm.

Eggs for Hatching.

Eggs that are to be used for hatching should be kept in a cool room in which the temperature is more or less moist. A basement that is not too damp is the best kind of a storage room. A room temperature of 45 to 55 degrees is preferable. Fresh eggs invariably show a slightly higher percentage of fertility and hatch slightly stronger chicks than eggs ten days old or more.

DEVOTED HIS TO GOOD WORK

Devout Little Johnny Would Give His Penny to Buy Bibles for Poor Kids.

The little visitors at Aunt Mary's were Helen, age six, and John age four. They played keeping grocery under the piano, envelopes, books and other articles representing the stock in trade. They took turn about as grocer and customer. The grocer bore the name of Mr. Popcorn.

"Mr. Popcorn," said Helen, "have you any rabbits this morning?"

"Yes'm," answered the polite grocer.

"Are they nice and fresh?"

"Yes'm."

"Then you may give me a good, big fat one for 15 cents."

During a lull in the grocery transactions Aunt Mary gave each of the visitors two cents—two cents in real money.

"And what are you going to do with the money?" asked Aunt Mary.

"I'm going to put my two pennies in the bank," said Helen.

"And I," said John, "I'll buy candy with one penny."

"And what will you do with the other penny?"

And John, who has been impressed by the missionary talks at Sunday school, answered: "I'm a-goin' to give it to buy Bibles for poor kids."—Providence Tribune.

Reminded Him.

Mr. Highbrow, who posed as an arbiter of taste, looked round the tiers of boxes at the opera house the other evening and said:

"I suppose, if a woman's shoulders are very beautiful, she has a right, a moral right, to wear a very decollete gown. At the same time—"

Mr. Highbrow chuckled and shook his head.

"At the same time," he resumed, "the fashionable woman of today reminds me of the prophet."

"How so?" said his interlocutor. "How so?"

"She hasn't much on 'er in her own country," was the smiling reply.

Question of Supplies.

"Daisy," remarked her Sunday school teacher, "don't love your cat too much. What would you do if it died—you wouldn't see it again?"

"Oh, yes, teacher; I should see it in heaven."

"No, dear, you're mistaken; animals cannot go to heaven like people."

Daisy's eyes filled with tears, but suddenly she exclaimed triumphantly, "Animals do go to heaven, for the bible says the promised land is flowing with milk and honey, and, if there are no animals, where do they get the milk!"

The Real Thing.

Little Lemuel—Say, paw, what is gratitude?

Paw—Gratitude, son, is the thing that shows up when a rich old bachelor dies and leaves all his money to the woman who once rejected him.

Its Outcome.

"Nobody. It was a drawn battle."—Baltimore American.

FOX-HUNTERS IN THE WAR

Thousands of Men Who Enjoyed That Sport in Britain Are Now at the Front.

Waterloo, according to the duke of Wellington, was won on the playing fields of Eton. Should Britain emerge triumphant from the present conflict we may find someone rising to claim that the campaign in Flanders was won in the English shires. The shires are the headquarters of fox-hunting, which most humanitarians denounce. George Bernard Shaw, for example, has no words strong enough to condemn it with. Mr. Jorrocks, the hero of a sporting novel, describing fox-hunting as "war without its guilt and only 25 per cent of its danger." It has to be admitted, however, that they who follow the hounds have answered magnificently to their country's call.

There are, it proves, 150 masters of hounds with the British colors, 3,000 members of hunts and 1,500 hunt servants. To them must be added the officers of the regular army who are accustomed to ride to hounds, likewise numbering some thousands. The total is an impressive one. It suggests that the real attraction of this sport may be that it is, as Jorrocks said, "a sort of war."

The Big Idea.

"Why do you want me to remain engaged to him another year? By the end of another year he won't have enough money left to get married on."

"That's what I was thinking."

Balancing the Scale.

"Isn't that song rather low?"

"Yes; that's why I'm singing it at the top of my voice."

resolve that we have heard him with pleasure and profit, and promise him our mutual support and co-operation.

Resolved that we extend a rising vote of thanks to the officers of the Union and pastors of this church and families of various congregations entertaining delegates.

Resolved that the banners be awarded on the same basis as in previous years.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was opened by a song service lead by Mr. Schmidt. Devotional services were lead by Rev. Glending, of Bellefonte. The lesson was taken from the thirteenth chapter of Corinthians. This was followed by the report of the County Treasurer.

The National Christian Endeavor is putting up a building in Boston which is to be the home of the Christian Endeavor work. The Pennsylvania State Union has pledged $10,000 toward the building fund. The convention voted that each Society in Centre county endeavor to contribute $5.00 as their share of the $10,000 pledged by the State. A further motion was passed that each society in the county contribute five cents per member to the state work. This was followed by special music and collection.

The convention sermon was preached by Rev. R. F. Jones, of Centre Hall. His text was taken from Matthew 16-24; Christianity is self-denial; overcoming the difficult tasks which we all have to do. This was followed by special music by a sextett of members of the Reformed choir.

Mr. MacCrory's evening address was "Christian Endeavor Activities." This address was delivered in a very forcible way and could not help but carry conviction with it. His chief point was on everyone having a work to do and everyone striving to do that work. After the address Mr. MacCrory installed the newly elected officers. The banners were awarded as follows: The one having the largest delegation, to the Christian church at Blanchard, and the one having the largest delegation in proportion to its membership was awarded to the Reformed church of Centre Hall. The evening session was closed by a prayer and benediction by Rev. Fulcomer.

This is the second sectional map of the State issued by the State Highway Department, the Southeastern part having been put out last November. The Northeastern and Northwestern sectional maps are now in course of preparation.

These maps are of value to automobilists and to others using the highways of the State. A limited number has been prepared.

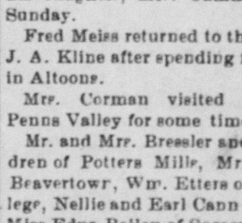
Blind Composer Praises Weaver Piano.



"It was my privilege the other day to make a tour of inspection through the Weaver Piano factory and the entire plant impressed me very deeply. I have knowledge of piano tuning and repairing which I took up at the school for the blind. I find the workmanship on Weaver Pianos to be of the highest quality. The system of tone production also impressed me very much and, after having used a Weaver Piano in my recital at the Duke St. M. E. Church, York, I am fully convinced that Weaver Pianos are in every way first-class and worthy of the hightest commendation.

Adam Geible, Mus. Doc.,
Philadelphia, Pa."

Dr. Geible is the Composer of many of the most tuneful Cantatas and Sacred Selection so familiar to us all. He has music in his soul and none but an Artistic Piano could so impress him.

Built With Care—That's Why They Lead

WEAVER PIANOS are built by the Weaver Organ & Piano Co. of York, Pa., who have had more than 45 years experience and have one of the largest and most up-to-date piano factories in America. Their reputation as the leading piano now manufactured would not seem surprising to you if you knew the methods, the men and the materials on which the reputation of the Weaver Pianos is based.

WEAVER PIANOS last a life time because they are built that way. They have been used and endorsed by many of the world's leading musicians, including Alice Nielsen, Mme. Homer, Victor Herbert, Frank Laforge, Frank Croxton and many others.

The Weaver Organ & Piano Co. also make and sell the Charming Toned York Piano, the popular Livingston Piano and the celebrated Weaver Organ.
